defendants, it is alleged, combined to monopolize and conspired to monopolize among themselves, a portion of the trade and traffic between several states and nations.

All these alleged acts of monopoly and unlawful restraint, were perpetrated, the complaint states, and carried out to such good purpose that the plaintiff's receipts, which amounted to $13,000, in 1892, were reduced in 1893 to $363.99, and in 1894 to nothing.

The alleged proceedings of the defendants caused, it is said, the plaintiff a direct loss of $2,769,000, but it sues for the larger amount stated above.

The suit is of more than passing local interest, as it was the depreciation of the securities of the plaintiff in the holding of the Madison Square Bank that wrecked that institution.

In the list of defendants, besides the railroads, are Russell Sage, George J. Gould, the Barings and a score of other companies and individuals.

A. D. Vinton, the counsel through whom the suit is brought, was seen at his office, 15 Wall street.

"If we succeed in this suit," said he, "It will prove that the investment made by the Madison Square Bank in the securities of the Prescott and Arizona Central was a first-class one, and will also result in placing among the funds of the bank enough money to pay all its debts and expenses and return more than par to its stockholders.

"The suit is also of interest to every holder of Atchison securities, inasmuch as the complaint alleges that illegal payments have been made from the Atchison treasury."

The ground of complaint is that the plaintiff was conducting a railroad connecting Prescott with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, an ally of the Atchison and Topeka and Santa Fe, and to have obtained concessions that made it impossible for the plaintiff to maintain competition.
